and woman's work is so clearly established as to justify an economic revolution of the most sweeping kind. Obviously, the first business of the Government's Committee of Inquiry must be, not to consider what it can yield safely to threats of labour unrest, but to investigate, strictly and scientifically, the justice of the womenworkers' claim.

abour universely and selection and it is easily conceivable that this question of "equal pay for equal work" may be made a prominent issue by the Labour Party and, perhaps, by the Liberals. In that event, the women voters will be confronted at the women voters will be an accompanied to the women voters will be a women vote perhaps, by the Liberals. In that every perhaps, by the Liberals. In that every the women voters will be confronted at the outset with a very critical test of their political wisdom and economic sanity. If they are carried off their feet by a catchory—well, we shall hardly be able to blame them, for they will merely be proving that, as Mrs. Poyser said, "God made the women to match the men;" but the results for themselves and for the community will be very unfortunate. It will be their duty to examine this proposal in the light of interests and of the State's and Gaelic Carnival of the Tyrone, Fert and Gaelic Carnival of the Tyrone, Fert was through a miscalculation of Marshal Foch's forces that the High Command allowed him "to pass from an inglorious defensive to a sudden, impetuous, and snocessful offensive;" but that it is all right now, and that the recent loss of ground is due to the "cool, deliberate calculation" of the same people deliberate calculation of the State's and Gaelic Carnival of the Tyrone, Fert was through a miscalculation of Marshal Foch's forces that the High Command allowed him "to pass from an inglorious defensive to a sudden, impetuous, and snocessful offensive;" but that it is all right now, and that the recent loss of ground is due to the "cool, deliberate calculation" of the same people where and Gaelic Carnival of the Tyrone, Fert was through a miscalculation of Marshal Foch's forces that the High Command allowed him "to pass from an inglorious defensive to a sudden, in petuous, and snocessful offensive;" but that it is all right now, and that the wore caught napping so recently.

Mr. Lloyd George returned to London to a term of the state of their must be intensified by the semi-official explantations served up to him in the German Press. There he is told by Baron Von Ardenne that it was through a miscalculation of Marshal Foch's forces that the ligh Command allowed him "to pass from the most unmistakable language, that, if the must unmistakable language, that, if the must unmistaka interests. The men's trade unions support the demand for "equal pay," but it is quite certain that they do not believe that women now render equal work. Why, then, do they support it? We are connumber of Irial-born men, wearing the uniform quite certain that they do not believe that women how render equal work. Why, then, do they support it? We are convinced that they see in it the surest way to abolish the war "dilutee" and other dangers to the former rigidity of trade union conditions. They realise that neither this Government nor any future Government can banish economic laws to Saturn, and that, when "equal pay becomes the rule, employers will dispense automatically with female labour as being less efficient, and therefore more expensive, than male labour. If the women's vote should help to bring about that state of affairs, it would prove to have been a costly and doubtful boon. On higher, because less safies, considering the relation of the laws of the sature of Ireland, and Mr. Burgess, Coal Contact of the sature and saturation of California and Frishmen of California who have relatives in Ireland asked the colleger and sailors to look that Irish fathers will form a great part of the Army of Democracy.

The Right Hon. E. Shortt, K.C., Chief Secretary of Ireland, and Mr. Burgess, Coal Contact of the satisfactory of the vote should help to bring about that state of affairs, it would prove to have been a costly and doubtful boon. On higher, use less selfish, grounds the women should resolve to set the men an example of wise, patriotism. The period of re-construction after the war will be one of the most difficult and dangerous in British history. It will be a time for sacrifice, for economy, for faithful co-operation be-tween employer and employed, for an the workers of the United Kingdom considering only what they can extort, and not what they can create, Germany will hold herself richly avenged for her defeats in war.
